Terrific Storm in Carson Valley.

[Thursday's Carson Appeal.]

We learn from Al Harkness, the driver of the southern stage, that the most fearful storm that he, or the oldest inhabitant ever experienced, visited Carson Valley yesterday. The storm in its fury swept violently from one end of the valley to the other, bearing almost everything in its track. Fences were torn up, trees blown down, and boards blown high in air.

THE STAGE

which left Carson yesterday when a short distance out of Genoa was blown over by the sheer force of the wind. Con. held to his team like Jehu the son of Nimshi, kept them in check and brought them promptly to a stand still so that none of the passengers were injured in the least. One of the over the Carson was blown completely from its place and some of the others so destroyed as to be impassable. The passengers were conveyed across the stream in a buggy to Boyd's, the stage dragged over, loaded and sent on in good shape. We trust Con. went through all serene. It won't be his fault if he didn't.

GENOA

there is a scene of desolation. Located as it is, in the very teeth of a storm. The wind rushes down the canyons and forms in whirlwinds in the town. Porches were torn up, roofs blown down and the streets presented all the appearance of a wreck after a hurricane. The greatest consternation prevailed. People were momentarily expecting their homes to be demolished and were in constant dread of accident and danger. As our informant left a man who had been

was brought in on a litter. The cause and extent of his injuries could not be learned as the accident occurred up in the mountains. It was reported by those who came down with him, that there was a man killed in a cabin in one of the canyons. We trust this may be merely a rumor and that life has not been lost. Al told us that the fury of the storm was greater in the town than out in the valley. While the wind was at its height at the Warm Spring accidentally took fire and burned to the ground. Take it all in all the storm was extremely severe one and we trust further particulars may bring us no worse news. LATER—A. C. Pratt, editor of the Carson Valley News, who came down last evening en route for San Francisco, confirms all the foregoing and further informs us that all the bridges over the Carson and its tributaries are blown off. That the man reported dead has been brought in but is still alive; that a rockaway and team belonging to parties in Virginia was burned at Walley's and that the Genoa Flume Company's flume is destroyed.

STILL LATER.

GENOA, January 16.
A Frenchman was brought to town this afternoon from the Sierra Nevada Canyon, having two or three fingers broken, and being also badly stunned by a piece of wood falling on him, which was lifted by the wind. But for his presence of mind in throwing back his hands he would no doubt have been instantly killed. His fingers had to be amputated. This is not the only disaster which has occurred. Another man has been brought in injured by the falling of a pile of wood. Fences and outhouses have been blown down and the camps around the town have been more or less destroyed. The barn belonging to Mrs. Walley's warm springs was blown down and caught fire, burning it up entirely. The other property is safe. All the carriages and horses were destroyed which were in the barn at the time. The gentle zephyrs have not been so gentle after all.

RESTORATIONS OF PENSIONS TO SOUTHERNERS.—No step has been taken in Congress towards securing pensions for those who served in the Confederate army on account of that service. The bill introduced by Senator Ransom and Representatives Stephens are to restore the pensions granted ante bellum for services in the Indian, Florida and Mexican wars to persons who subsequently served in the Confederate army, and who were by law deprived thereafter of the pensions which they had been paid from the Union Treasury. As the civil leaders of the Rebellion have been pardoned and admitted into full official position, it would be an act of justice to restore the pensions of a few hundred disabled veterans who were forced by the surrounding public opinion to enlist under the Confederate flag. To do this the clauses inserted in the revised statutes, which now exclude them from the pension rolls, must be repealed, and it is for this repeal that legislation is asked by Ransom and Stephens.

Bertha Von Hillern.

How the Celebrated Pedestrienne Trains for Her Walks.

[Baltimore News.]

Miss Von Hillern will begin her second and last great walk in this city, at the Masonic Temple next Monday evening. Lady admirers of the little German must remember that she accomplishes her wonderful feat of endurance only after months of perseverance and self denial. To rise at seven o'clock, take a raw egg and crust of bread, and start off on a ten mile tramp before breakfast, would as a rule, cool the ardor of any by the most ambitious amateur. Following the exercise comes her daily bath, and then a substantial breakfast of raw beef, boiled potatoes, oat meal and stale bread. Pastry and the professional pedestrian are enemies. Breakfast over, comes three or four hours of rest and reading, together with her favorite pastime, painting. She also entertains as well as she is able in her imperfect English, any of her lady friends who may call. One o'clock finds her again on the road. If the air is bracing and the traveling good, she roams the surrounding country for twelve or fifteen miles, this exercise being indispensable to harden the limbs and develop the muscle to that rigid, compact condition necessary to withstand fatigue. Then follows her dinner, for which, as may be readily understood she has an excellent appetite.

In preparing for a long walk, Miss Von Hillern invariably retires at ten, after partaking of a light supper. The greatest care is taken of her feet. After every walk, either in a public trial or upon her daily exercise, these are subjected to a cold bath of salt and water, which hardens the cuticle and makes them tough and strong. Her feet are perfect and quite small, requiring a 2½ shoe, although her walking shoes are considerably larger. Her stockings for her long walks are carefully selected, and without seams, and in putting them on great care is exercised to avoid folds and wrinkles. They are supported by elastic straps attached to suspenders over the shoulders. Her walking shoes are of soft goat skin, laced high above the ankles and with broad and firm soles, and low broad heels. The shoes are an inch longer than the foot, and allow it all possible freedom.

Miss Von Hillern, while on the track, subsists almost entirely upon beef tea and the raw yolk of eggs, with prune water and seltzer to quench thirst. She is very rigid in refusing stimulants, not even allowing the use of whisky in her shoes, as is the custom with most pedestrians, and will not tolerate the smell of liquor about her. She is a surprise to all who look at her for the first time, for the stranger has pictured an entirely different person. Instead of an Amazon, he sees before him a petite being, scarcely five feet in height, weighing but 106, a picture of health, and with a form so muscular and compact as to denote strength in every movement.

Inhuman Wretches.

One of the worst cases of heartless cruelty that we have ever heard of, is published in Monday's Elko Independent. A boy 14 years of age, brother of W. C. Conwell of Carlin, about the 25th of November, left his home at that place, without the knowledge of his relatives, and went off with a couple of California sheep men named Barber and Dixon, in the capacity of herder. His employers were taking a band of sheep to their Winter quarters, near the town of Terrace in Utah, and during the intensely cold weather which prevailed in December, while crossing a forty mile desert, the boy's feet were badly frozen. About the time the camp was reached, the band of sheep stampeded and the owners followed them, leaving the lad with his feet frozen, in a cabin without any fuel or blankets, and with nothing to eat, except a small piece of mutton and no companion but a half famished dog, which devoured the greater portion of the food. The poor boy would undoubtedly have perished but for the cries of the animal, which were heard by a neighboring sheep herder, who came to the cabin and took the boy to his camp. Some time afterwards the heartless wretches returned to the cabin where they had left the boy, and upon being informed of his condition, refused even to go and see him. The lad was brought to Elko by his brother, who had been informed of his condition, and on Monday his foot was amputated below the instep, some of the toes having dropped off. The left foot was also badly frozen, but it is thought it can be saved. If the inhuman monsters who so basely deserted the youngster don't find quarters in the next world where they won't suffer from cold, we were sadly imposed upon by the religious teachers of our early years.

"Boiling hair in a solution of tea will darken it," says an exchange; but some folks don't like to have their tea darkened in that way.

Labor Question.

The turbulent labor agitators have grown so bold that Mayor Bryant of San Francisco has taken steps to prevent the execution of their incendiary threats. Kearney and his lieutenants are in prison. General McDowell has promised military assistance should such assistance be needed to preserve order. A large number of hoodlums and others who are not laborers in the true sense, form a considerable part of the large law-defying body of agitators. They have some grounds for complaint but have gone far beyond their original purpose, overstepped their legitimate sphere of action, and are now a just source of apprehension. Should they be allowed to continue their riot-producing meetings San Francisco would, within a few weeks, witness the dreadful riotous scenes which have been enacted at New York City. There are but few who do not sympathize with the hard-working man, but a set of barnacles on society—men too rotten lazy to work for reasonable wages, but who spend their time in exciting discontent among those who are industrious, and at the same time talk themselves into a frenzy over largely imagined and exaggerated evils, for this class, we say, there is little or no sympathy due. They are the fomenters of all disturbances, and when they show their hands should be dealt with severely by the law.

It is true there are thousands of men and women in California and Nevada who are out of employment. But is it not also true that the larger number of these persons might find work if they honestly sought it? If others have no labor for them let them create employment. Men and women of good habits and able bodies were never made to starve on the Pacific Coast. We have seen men and women flock by the score to the employment offices and their bulletin boards in San Francisco, all very anxious to get work; yes, they were starving. Well we expected the long array of "wanted" for this and that position would be filled. But no; on the next day we saw the same or nearly the same crowd back again. The servant girl said: I am not going out in the country to cook. A strong man, looking over the list, reads: "Wanted—Five men to milk at —, Marin county. Wanted—a man to tend saw; $40 per month and board." etc. Well, he would not take such wages way up in the country where a fellow never sees anything. We Americans live too extravagantly; get or pay too high wages; don't branch out in business sufficiently; live on excitement too much; are not as industrious, steady and frugal as we should be.

A large number of young men want to hang around town and barely live, instead of becoming mechanics, farmers, tradesmen, etc. Enterprise, long, patient, saving toil. To these things we are too largely, as a people, strangers. Speculation finds its votaries, but the more grievous fact is that too many hangers-on gather bare living from this speculation, and we speculate, regardless of any moral scruples. We expect to spend a dollar to-day and to-morrow reap disproportionate profits. Did we have more intelligent enterprise, cheaper labor, and less dissipation among the working classes, we should see few unemployed men.

Irrigation Scheme.

Honest, outspoken Tom Fowler declares publicly that the outrageous act of the Democratic Senate of California in the Irrigation Commission will kill the Democratic party in the San Joaquin Valley.—Carson Tribune.

The Sacramento Bee strongly condemns the action of the California Senate in killing the West Side Irrigation Scheme. Several years ago Schriber of Stanislaus county introduced a bill into the Legislature and we believe it passed both Houses allowing five trustees without giving bonds to obtain from the people and State, $4,000,000 with which to construct a canal from Fresno City, or possibly higher up the San Joaquin river, to a point north of Ellis Station on the C. P. R. R. The canal would run through a very rich section of farming land, lying immediately west of the San Joaquin river. The farmers in this rich land section can raise not more than two crops out of five. The principal cause being lack of rain. They were by the terms of the bill and private agreement to give to those five trustees to whom we have referred, $1 25 per acre on their land for 49 years. The farmers of whom there were many squatters, had just failed to raise a crop when this scheme was sprung. They were informed that for many months they would be employed with teams to work on this canal and thus induced a large number signed a petition to fleece the State. Now the scheme is modified and up before the California Legislature. Tom Fowler of Tulare is a thick headed mule. He is honest as far as we know, but every honest fool should not be a Senator.

National Banks and Government Bonds.

Senator Voorhees of Indiana, in his big speech on finance, thus commented on the system of national banks:

The system of national banking now in use is the most elaborate and complete scheme for making the people pay tribute to wealth in order to obtain a circulating medium ever known in the financial history of the world. There is not a dollar in the hands of the people on which they have not paid a tax for the privilege of having it put in circulation by the Government. The national bank is the middleman between the Government and the people, and is enormously paid for doing what the Government ought to do itself. On October 1, 1877, there were 2080 National Banks, with resources of $1,741,000,000, and on these resources the interest paid by the people was $130,000,000 per annum.

The founding of National Banks was the result of two causes. First—A blunder on the part of a former Secretary of the Treasury, and second, the avariciousness of certain moneyed corporations in the North. U. S. bonds should be held by the people and not in banks.

Sherman's popular loan should have been presented earlier. We like the more extreme views of Wood, Chairman of the House Committee on Ways and Means, viz: Would it not be well to use the certificates authorized to be issued in lieu of postal money orders, which the bill called for, as currency, especially as the denominations ran down as low as $10, and whether, after the expiration of one year in which they bore interest, they could not then be used upon their par face, with accrued interest, as currency, precisely the same as the legal tender notes now are, and whether the effect would not be to add $600,000,000—the amount of 5-20's yet unrefunded—to the circulating medium of the country. A few hundred millions in bonds might be thrown out for acceptance by the people and the same be used as greenbacks are to-day. Thus the United States would save an immense yearly interest, and from her sinking fund would be enabled rapidly to redeem her currency with gold and silver. Of course National Banks cannot be shut down now, but their number can be gradually decreased until the system shall pass entirely away. If Government bonds in small denominations were taken up by the people, a few more sub-Treasuries would be necessary, but the loss by bonds destroyed would more than pay the expense of running two or three sub-Treasuries.

A Eureka correspondent of the Enterprise says Senator Geo. A. Baker wants to succeed Kittrell as Attorney-General. "Baker is a very light weight, gifted with a good deal of gab, etc. etc."—Exchange.

It seems that certain henchmen throughout the State conceive it their duty to set up some man for office and then pour their political alms over his carcass.

SMELTING FURNACE.—Messrs. Evans & Prescott of this city have patented a smelting furnace and condensing attachment for smelting ores, dust and tailings, which they claim, will successfully treat the fine dust of smelting furnaces.—Carson Tribune.

It can't be possible that Creal has gone over to Carson.

The Rye Patch mill is again in full blast. The water pipes, which were frozen up during the cold spell, have been thawed out and the machinery is again in motion, and producing bullion at the rate of one thousand dollars per day.

A Winnemucca divine is preaching against Spiritualism. He says it is rank materialism, and its progress is backwards. He says it annihilates all the progress of eighteen centuries and accepts the old religious system of Greece and Rome.

A Tight Grip on Life.

The Death of General Clarke, Ex-Governor of Mississippi.

General Charles Clarke, ex-Governor of Mississippi, died a few days ago at the age of sixty-eight. He served as volunteer in the Mexican war, but was sent home invalided as a consumptive by the surgeons. Their verdict, Dr. Warren Stone, the highest authority of the Southern faculty, confirmed, one lung having perished completely, and the Lieutenant was advised to go home and lead the quiet life of a planter, avoiding all excitement whereby he might prolong his life eighteen months or perhaps even two years. He went home but did not die; indeed, after serving in the Legislature and several public offices, he was alive to head a Confederate brigade at Shiloh. As he took a parting glass with Colonel W. H. McAdie, a veteran Mississippi journalist, he said: "I think you will have a good chance of publishing that obituary you promised me years ago. I have outlived all the doctors, but I am not so confident I shall escape the Yankee shells and balls which I shall be compelled to face to-day." After the first day's battle General Clarke was borne to the rear, wrapped in a blanket saturated with blood. "You can publish that obituary now—he has met with a soldier's death," was the remark of one of those who bore him, and the obituary was shortly afterward published in the New Orleans papers. Shortly after the battle of Baton Rouge, however, General Clarke was seen again in New Orleans. He had been shot through at the battle of Shiloh and left on the field, to be taken prisoner, to recover, to be exchanged, and at Baton Rouge a ball broke his thigh near the socket. Dr. Stone was the surgeon who now brought round the man he had condemned to a speedy death in 1848, and though his leg was shortened several inches, General Clarke lived to be Governor of Mississippi and to die fifteen years later quietly in his bed, having buried several generations of doctors, gone through two wars with only one lung, been twice left for dead on the field of battle and seen his obituary published.

A new bonanza is being opened up in the Con. Virginia, on the 1750 level, far to the east, and where it could hardly have been expected that a large body of ore, or a body of ore of any kind, would be found. Superintendent Fair has long felt that there might be something in that direction, but it seemed so improbable that he dismissed the matter from his mind as often as it occurred to him. Finally he determined to run a drift into the suspected region, in order to set the matter at rest and be no more troubled with it.—Virginia Chronicle.

RENO EVENING GAZETTE.

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

Jottings.

Remember Prof. Jacobson's soiree to-morrow night at the Opera House. A jolly dance, and $1 pays the bill for lady and gentleman.

Rev. Hubbard will preach this evening at the Baptist Church. Subject, "The Mysterious Reward." All are invited to attend.

Frank Bell is engaged in repairing and superintending the repairs of wires 5, 6, 7 and 8 of the Western Union Telegraph Co. These lines will all be in perfect working order in a day or two.

Next Wednesday and Thursday evenings the Old Folks Concert, gotten up under the auspices of the Methodist Church, will be held at Smith's Academy of Music. To-night those who take part meet for rehearsal.

The chief scribbler is on the Grand Jury, which prevents our taking any comfort with him or having a few minutes for calm reflection—walking down street with one's friends. And yet we can't see but that the reader must suffer.

A young daughter of Mrs. Vosburg fell into the Highland Ditch and had a narrow escape from drowning. Hattie says what she most thought of was that she might get whipped for getting her clothes so wet.

The party held last night at Washoe was well attended and proved in every respect a success. Over sixty tickets were sold, and several of our citizens who were present say they had a jolly time.

Cohn & Isaacs' new cut shows off to a good advantage in our advertising columns. Drop into their store and these gentlemen will show you goods which in durability, style and quality will suit your every taste and wish.

Dr. Dawson is spending a few days with us. The Doctor has a very sick child, hence his return from Carson.

We find trade about as dull as local items are difficult to procure.

There is every indication of a storm. The barometer gives the positive showing, and the mountains, on whose tops seems to rest the revengeful elements, signal the approach of snow or rain, probably snow, as the weather is too cold for rain. Last year at this time we had several inches of snow all over the valley. A light snow fell on the 13th of January, and on the 17th and 18th we had snow in earnest, it reaching the depth of three feet.

Our farmers are anxious to see the snow falling. They have an unusual quantity of hay on hand, for which there will be no pressing demand until the storms come. Every one of them looks anxiously for the appearance of Winter.

District Court.

Friday, January 18.

The case of Geo. Alt et al vs. Robt. Steele was on trial to-day in the District Court. The cause of trial relates to rights in a certain water ditch near Glendale.

The testimony which, it was agreed in Carson, should be completed at Reno, in the case of Washoe county vs. Humboldt county, was yesterday afternoon taken before Judge Wright. It now remains to hear the argument in this case, which arguments will probably be heard in Carson.

THE HUFFAKER PARTY.—The party at Huffaker's school house this evening will be the jolliest party out. We all expect to have a huge amount of fun. Every preparation for the enjoyment of the dancers has been made. Carriages will be on hand this evening about 7:30. The Lake House bus will start about 8 o'clock from the Lake House. It will contain seven couples. There will be other conveyances on hand, the whereabouts of which and their time of starting we have not been informed, but presume that this information can be obtained either at the principal hotels or livery stables. Ample provision for your safe conveyance to and from the party has been made. We know of nothing jollier than a ride with a party of young folks for a few miles in the country, where all meet and indulge in a pleasant amusement as dancing. We hear of a large number of ladies and gentlemen who intend going to this school house party. The proceeds will be devoted to an excellent purpose, and this evening spent as many of our citizens contemplate will be one long to be remembered.

MORE BAD LUCK.—We stepped into the Justice Court this forenoon with a search warrant for a local Justice R. looked a little puzzled as to where he would get provinder for the remainder of the week and was figuring on hill's fine for breakfast. No business in three days, well that is tough. Just here we broke in on his study, and in a humiliated tone inquired what he had done. The poor man looked distressed and ordered Avery to fire us out, but George had a mind to tarry for a time in his flesh, and besides his new boots hurt his corns. In vain we cast about for an item until the Judge threatened to fine us for contempt, when we always willing under such circumstances departed.

SHIPPED TO RENO.—A Carson man recently received the following starting letter:

WINNEMUCCA, January 11, 1878.—O. K.—Look out. Winnemucca has taken an emetic and the "vomit" will reach you at same time as this. This is to warn you. Don't loan any son-of-a-gun in the crowd a cent. You know them all as well as we do. Hell has popped here and 601 has sent the whole crew to your place. Look your chicken house at night and start the miscreants on towards Bodie or some other place—hell if possible.

MANY CITIZENS.

The exiles from Winnemucca, via Carson, arrived here in Bodie a few days since, but appearing lost and lonely like they were promptly shipped to Reno by a compassionate party of gentlemen known as the "601."—Bodie Standard.

We would hereby notify our Job friends at Bodie that we do not in the least appreciate their action. Reno has already all the "exiles" that we care to have, in fact we could spare a few. Let our officers be ready to give them a warm reception. We have had one drove of tramps, and will not take any more if it's all the same to the 601 of Bodie.

The Alta-Justice trouble has virtually been settled by the removal of Sam Curtis' fighters. The miners' union would not stand any foolishness, and marched in a body to the Justice and demanded that the non-members of the union, the hired pugilists, should be removed at once. They stood in like men and quietly departed for their inviting homes.

NEW LOGIC.—It was said that the rise in Ophir was due to the commencement of work at all points on the 1900-foot level. Ophir is two dollars less to-day, from which we infer that work has been suspended at several points on this level.

The recent rise in Ophir is attributed to the resumption of work at all points on the 1900-foot level. Perhaps this is the real cause.

Henry Rhue is afflicted with scarlet fever. We hope he will not rue his affliction. We beg your pardon, but the scarcity of locals etc.

A Great Lawyer's Weakness.

Martin Luther was one of the most famous lawyers of his time. He was a little above the medium height, and was, slovenly in appearance. His dress was a compound of the fine and coarse, and seemed never to have felt the brush. He wore ruffles at the wrist, richly edged with lace, after every one else had abandoned them. These ruffles were conspicuously broad and were always dirty with tobacco juice. Judge Taney said that in his speech he used vulgarisms, and that he heard him say "cotch" him, instead of caught him, and we set down, instead of sat down. His genius was frequently clouded by the excessive use of strong drink. Being engaged in an important case, he promised his clients the day before the suit was to be tried not to drink any liquor. He retired to his room, but could not resist the desire for stimulants. He sent for a bottle of brandy and a loaf of bread, and after saturating the bread thoroughly with the brandy he ate it, and his unfortunate appetite was satisfied, and he claimed that he kept his promise not to drink. He tried the cause in the ablest possible manner, but on being reproached by his clients for his virtual violation of his promise, he remarked, "I did not drink a drop; besides say no more about it. Had it not been for the bread I would have lost the case."

He had a paralytic stroke, and having squandered his large earnings at the bar as fast as they were acquired, in his old age, under the goadings of poverty, he removed to New York and received the hospitalities and kind attentions of Aaron Burr, whom he ably defended at Richmond. Before his death the Legislature passed a resolution that everyone on being admitted to the bar should pay $1 cash for his use. He died on July 10, 1826, when he was eighty-two years of age.

While growing at her husband last Summer a woman in Chicago was struck by lightning and instantly killed. Ladies should paste this paragraph in their hats.

An oyster was recently found in a tank of boarding-house soup. A post-mortem revealed the fact that he died from grief superinduced by lack of company.

WATCHES!! JEWELRY!!

ROMAINE GOLD, SO EXTENSIVELY WORN IN PARIS, was first discovered in 1870, by the celebrated French chemist, Mons. D. De Dalong, who manufactured it in jewelry, and for sale for Solid Gold. In 1875, when his secret became known, ten of the manufacturing jewelers established a stock company, with a capital of $100,000 for the purpose of manufacturing Romaine Gold Jewelry and Watches. With this immense capital and the aid of improved machinery, they are enabled to produce all the latest patterns of jewelry at less than one-tenth the cost of solid gold, and of a quality and color which makes it impossible even for experts to detect it from the genuine.

We have secured the exclusive agency of the United States and Canada, for the sale of all goods manufactured from this metal, and at a post marked No. 1 U. S. survey No. 40, the same being post No. 2 of U. S. survey No. 38, Steamboat lodge, also post No. 3 of U. S. survey No. 39, 1st northerly extension of Steamboat lodge, whence the quarter section corner on the north boundary of Section 32, T. 18 N. R. 20 E. M. D. M. bears S 2° 30' E 1675 feet. The mouth of a working tunnel on this claim bears S 2° 30' E 1225 feet and the northerly side of a large excavation bears south 1225 feet. Thence 1st course, S 76° 40' W 600 feet to a post marked No. 2 U. S. survey No. 40. Thence 2d course, S 13° 30' E 1500 feet to a post marked No. 3 U. S. survey No. 40. Thence 3d course, S 76° 40' E 600 feet to a post marked No. 4 U. S. survey No. 40. Thence 4th course, N 13° 30' W 1500 feet to post No. 1, the place of beginning, containing 30 66-100 acres. Courses expressed from the true meridian with a magnetic variation of 16° 45' E, and the survey has been made to conform to the original notice of location. This claim is bounded on the north by P. A. Humbert's claim on the 1st northerly extension of the Nevada lode, and on the east by P. A. Humbert's claim on the Steamboat lode, and on the south by P. A. Humbert's claim on the Nevada lode, and on the west by P. A. Humbert's claim on the Nevada lode. The location of this mine is duly recorded in the Recorder's office of Washoe county, in the State of Nevada, in book A, page 124 of mining locations records of Washoe county, Nevada.

Any and all persons claiming adversely any portion of said Pierre August Humbert's mine or said mining ground as hereinbefore described, are required to file their adverse claim with the Register of the United States Land Office at Carson City, in the State of Nevada, during the sixty days period of publication hereof, or they will be barred by virtue of the provisions of the Statute.
